Super powers

A super power is an exceptional strength - one that stands out most about you.

Your self-reflection
Describe what you're most excited about at work
Solve problems by thinking out of the box. Balancing systematic & structured approaches to design solid long term solution, and shortcuts & bias for action for a quick solve.
Separate signal from noise. Seek solutions. Innovate, try, fail, try, succeed.
Use a problem as a learning opportunity (Compliance topics and ABS have opened wide opportunities for learning :-)).

Describe how you contribute when you're at your best
I always try to stand in the other person's shoes, take their position until I understand their need better than they do.
I try to recommend several outcomes and present the pros & cons of each.

Manager feedback
You bring a lot of strengths to your work at Amazon. What stands out for me is:
Fabrice is a force to be reckoned with. He understands how Amazon works and what it takes to get things done, with the right level of diving deep and bringing all circumstances and surroundings together into the right melody. Fabrice is gritty, works autonomously and his appetite for learning is commendable. In addition, he has the right level of Learn & Be Curious as he demonstrated in all new areas he jumped in this year.

Peer feedback

> During my short period working with Fabrice, it is clear he has an inane ability to deed dive, manage complex data and define root cause. He has also shown the ability to build robust mechanisms to mitigate flaws in data. He is always willing to accept a challenge and by his nature, determine the right path to finding a solution.

> Fabrice has been a great support for developing the SNN4 dashboard. He guided the team, but also believed in the team's inputs in developing the dashboard for reducing EU compliance blockers and unblock selection for customers. Fabrice's key strengths lie in his ability to prioritize work and then bring together all stakeholders to deliver on smaller milestones.

> Fabrice has been extremely helpful when it comes to helping us understand requirements from SNN4 perspective. He has been available whenever I needed help. Fabrice has also facilitated conversations with EU business and program teams to ensure that mechanism that has been built to prevent drop offs is effective.

> Fabrice has showcased a high level inquisitiveness to learn about new initiatives across the org. His skills to deep dive and insist on the high standards while delivering the analysis/results has been praiseworthy and has guided the team in the right direction in numerous instances.

> Fabrice is amazing in building synergies with other teams. Based on his knowledge of systems and people around the transportation world , he quickly ties people and issues together. His open communication makes it really easy to connect with him and brainstorm on possible solution that are beneficial for a variety of businesses.

> Fabrice's super power is his capability for creating the best solutions by looking all alternatives and deep dives to provide detailed roadmap and solution. We worked with him through SNN4 project and we leverage from his leadership to organize the teams and having successful planning to reach our target

> I enjoy working and brainstorming with Fabrice, as he has a strong and diverse background with a can-do mindset and team spirit. He is one of those people in the team that keeps spirits high; works hard, has fun and makes history.

Growth ideas

Growth ideas are suggestions of things you can do to develop and grow.

Your self-reflection
What growth ideas do you have for yourself?
I should probably stand up more during key calls and influence outcomes, also I am not an expert in the topics I work on.

Manager feedback
Growth ideas from me:
Fabrice should make his opinion being heard and be more vocal; we will give him the opportunity to demonstrate his Think Big in more Sr Meetings in 2023 especially through new areas he is exploring such as Risk Management and Labor SPS.

Peer feedback

> Fabrice can help teams understand the overall business problem statement. This will help drive team efforts in the right direction.

> Fabrice should think more wider to spread his leadership and his good approaches thourgh projects to WW perspective instead of keeping them only regional basis.

> Fabrice would benefit from broadening his knowledge and outlook when problem solving. On the SNN4 case his focus was single threaded at times which impacted progress.

> Fabrice's inputs and thoughts are always appreciated, but there are some moments wherein he can be challenged to find the baseline to commit with the team's decision.

> Given how many project he has run now, I could see Fabrice being a real asset to Amazon in the area of Invent and Simplify and look forward to what he has in store in the future.

> I would love to see Fabrice deliver on the multiple initiatives/projects he started in the previous year, which can also help him find brilliant ideas on how to create long-term/think big themes to continue focusing on and grow his responsibilities/control area.

> While Fabrice was a great support, he could have helped understand the customer problems more clearly. While the project started with solving the drop-off issue, the dashboard was focused more towards capturing overall compliance blockers. Fabrice could have provided more of a leadership view and also helped drive adoption of the dashboard for downstream implementation.

Thank you!
