Hi Fabrice,

Gret to speak to you earlier.

Please attached details of the role we discussed for Alloga based in Marseille (part of the Cencora group.)

- www.cencora.com
- https://www.cencora.com/our-capabilities/logistics-and-warehousing/third-party-logistics

It's a Senior PMO/TMO role for 6 months paying 900 euro per day, 3 days a week in Marseille initially – Tues-Thurs.

Key attributes;

- People person - Able to coach / handhold and support the change in ways of working, developing the right culture and behaviours.
- Exceptional leadership – It is all about hearts and minds – and need to embed change at pace. Lots of handholding as ingrained ways of working will need to be broken.

- One of the biggest areas of focus is the Project Managers and their day-to-day activities / ways of working as we are struggling embedding the tighter controls and governance.

- Senior PMO Lead with amazing leadership / people skills and experience,

- Set out the desired improvements and changes we would want to see along with examples of key artifacts we want all projects to use and have someone in Marseille to support the PMs closely — attending project meetings, coaching / hand-holding, and helping build the packs / materials.

If you can give some examples of where you have turned around projects and projects teams with low morale and bad ways of working that will go down well

Thanks,

Matt Hancock
